Directory Of Social Support Services For Adults

This work is carried out with the aid of a grant from the International Development Research Centre, Ottawa, Canada.
Acknowledgements

This Directory was developed through the collaboration of the “Improving Household Nutrition Security and Public Health in the CARICOM” (also known as the Food and Nutrition, FaN project) and the Jamaica Council of Churches (JCC), with the overall goal of fostering an environment that normalizes and supports nutrition and food security among members of and communities around faith-based organisations to improve their dietary patterns. The FaN project was funded by the International Development Research Centre (IDRC), and is runs through the Caribbean Institute for Health Research, University of the West Indies (CAIHR, UWI). Special thanks to Miss Geraldine Garwood, Clinical Psychologist/Behaviour Specialist, who led the research to identify various social support services to develop this Directory.

About this Directory

This Directory is one of a complement of resources created from the collaboration of the FaN project and JCC, with the aim of providing information on specific services available in Jamaica for adults in need. These services are grouped by five areas: Advocacy, Training and Education Services, Food Security Services, Housing Services, Physical and Mental Disability Services and Senior Citizens and Shut-Ins Services. The Directory lists each type of service, its attributes and the best way to access it.

Information was gathered from the annual Telephone Directory; internet searches; and oral referrals. Calls were made to each organisation to verify that it was currently active, as well as to confirm contact details. If an organisation failed to answer repeated telephone calls or respond to email, they were not included in the Directory and assumed to be inaccessible/not active. This investigation revealed that there were some categories that were limited in active organisations. In particular, there are limited organisations available which support nutrition in Jamaica. Nutrition falls mostly under the umbrella of Food for the Poor, and so other organisations of such magnitude are needed to support this area.

The operators and directors of the organisations were largely welcoming as they gave information willingly and some requested copies of the final compilation. Some challenges faced were the fear of some organisations to share information due to scamming activities, protection of staff members, and competition scouting prices.

Costs/fees were never disclosed over the phone.

Developing this Directory proved that the information on available resources is not easily identifiable and this needs to be addressed. Much work is to be done to encourage more organisations to pronounce their services openly and emphatically so that people can know where to access resources. Of note, a majority of these organisations are non-governmental organizations which play a strong role in response to social issues in Jamaica.

How to use this Directory

Symbols are listed next to each of the five categories. Wherever an organisation also falls under another category other than where it is listed, it will have a symbol next to it indicating which other categories it falls under.
